Dear Don,

I am writing to inform you that Reader to Reader, a literacy nonprofit organization based in Massachusetts, is donating thousands of new children's books to your district. As you may recall, Reader to Reader has donated thousands of free books to Central Consolidated School District in the past, and we again want to help boost the access to books for children in your district. While we are based in Massachusetts, much of our work takes place on or adjacent to the Navajo Nation, and we have a full-time staff person based in Fort Wingate New Mexico. The books we are donating come through our partnerships with leading children's publishers, including Scholastic.

The books we are sending this donation:

2,000 books (Scholastic)	Assorted Titles for K-12	Approximate Value: $30,000
--------------------------	--------------------------	-----------------------------

There is no cost associated with the donation as the shipping is paid for by the publisher. Your district may use the books any way you see fit, including giving them to children to keep, and putting them in classrooms and libraries.

We are pleased to again be able to aid your district, and look forward to doing so again in the future.

Warmest Regards,

David Mazor
